Exhibit to Feature Works Inspired by Artists' Interpretation of Love

SEATTLE, Aug. 17 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- In celebration of Hispanic Heritage Month, Nordstrom will showcase El Amor Ahora (Love Now), a bold and inspiring exhibit of artwork from a group of talented Hispanic artists. For the third year in a row, artists from around the world reflect their unique and personal ideas of love in a series of paintings and illustrations. The exhibit will be displayed in select Nordstrom stores from September 15 - October 15.

Nordstrom began its "Love" themed exhibits in 2003, celebrating Black History Month with a collection of photographs from African-American photographers, and Hispanic Heritage Month with artwork by Hispanic painters and illustrators. Both exhibits celebrate diversity and artistic expression.

"We are excited to celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month by focusing on the timeless theme of 'Love,'" said Delena Sunday, executive vice president, Human Resources and Diversity Affairs. "We are privileged to have a diverse group of employees and customers, and we want to continue to find unique and creative ways to celebrate diversity. Over the past few years, we have received a lot of positive feedback from customers about these exhibits, and we are happy to feature a new collection of work again this year."

The exhibit will feature 27 artists:

- Cristina Acosta, Bend, Ore.
- Juan Alonso, Seattle, Wash.
- Beto Alvarez, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Lamberto Alvarez, Southlake, Texas
